

34

Ask Fiona

Fiona Fullerton
answers readers'
queries to help make your buying, selling or letting easier

e-mail your queries to askfiona@mailonsunday.co.uk

Clear your space... and sell your place

I am a professional 'space clearer' and help people who are finding it difficult to sell their house.

The process starts with me 'reading' the energy of the house to find out what has been left in the fabric of the building. I then look for clues in the owner's furniture and possessions, which store 'emotional memories'. The process takes three to nine hours and ends with a space-clearing ceremony where stagnant or unwanted energy is removed and replaced with new intent.

I have used this process to help people sell or let their homes. It is also beneficial when moving home in order to start with a clean slate.

I have spoken with a number of estate agents and most know at least one property that's repeatedly on the market after one owner's relationship broke up. Unless the energy is identified and removed, these patterns can continue.

I thought this letter was worth featuring because although I have heard stories of properties being 'cleansed', I didn't know anyone who did it.

It may be a slightly unorthodox method but if you feel your property may benefit from the energy being removed or redirected, call Chris Colgan on 020 8660 3889 or 07904 096091.

● Fiona Fullerton's Guide To Buying, Selling And Moving House is published by Piatkus, price £9.99. Fiona reads all your letters but regrets she cannot answer them all.